OPTIONS & INFORMATION

OUR HISTORY

A Danish family with passion for furniture

In 1991 the Danish Kristensen family began retailing interior products. The passion for furniture grew throughout the years and in 2003 the family took over an old furniture factory in Lithuania.

Since then Kristensen & Kristensen has grown several times and the production has been modernized to demand a sustainable and safe working environment.

Today we employ more than 200 skilled workers in the 8.000 m2 carpentry and smithy. We operate on the B2B market and sell our furniture through retailers primarily in the northern part of Europe.

The human touch

In our production the human mind and skillset is key.

In the hands of Viktoras and on the shelves behind him, are some of the custommade templates, that are used to produce subcomponents for the furniture.

CRAFTSMANSHIP

High quality materials & proud crafting traditions

At the factory we have our own drying ovens and sawmill. This means that we can control the process from the first rough cuts of the wood and down to the final details.

We stand out by performing an extraordinary hand sorting and processing of the wood.

This passion for the old crafting methodes is reflected in our designs an production.

SOLID WOOD

A unique living material

Solid wood is a living breathing material, which means that it can be affected by the climate of its surroundings. In a dry atmosphere, small movements in the timber may appear as tiny cracks. However, this is a natural characteristic of solid wood. We strongly recommend that you keep your furniture in a climate controlled area at a humidity level between 25 - 50% to minimise the risk of any cracking and movement of the wood.

No two trees are identical, which means that the structure, texture, and colour in each plank of wood in our furniture varies. You might say it is nature's fingerprint. This is a natural occurrence in solid wood and is caused by different conditions in the climate in which the tree was grown. In our production process, we pride ourselves on hand selecting the wood so that the planks' colour and grain match to ensure an overall appearance that is well balanced, while still maintaining and respecting the unique differences that each piece of solid wood has.

A sustainable choice

Furniture in solid wood is a sustainable choice and with the right care the furniture will last for many decades. With solid wood you also have the possibility to sand down and oil it again, to refresh the table. Smaller scratches and marks can also be repaired or improved.

MAINTAINING

Your solid wood furniture

To ensure that your furniture will continue to stand the test of time, it is important to maintain it correctly. For oiled products, we recommend upon arrival that you treat your furniture with a natural wood oil, as during the delivery process the packaging will have absorbed some of the oil from your product.

Daily care

To keep your furniture clean and free of marks or stains, please ensure that any liquids or grease are wiped off the surface immediately. To clean, use a slightly damp cloth followed by a dry cloth to ensure the wood does not absorb any moisture.

Extended care (1-3 times annually)

We recommend that oiled, lacquered, or soaped furniture is treated with a care product (oil/lacquer/soap) minimum twice a year. Depending on conditions like heat, humidity, sunlight, etc., the furniture may need more treatments due to such exposure. Remember to also treat the underside of the wood so it is treated evenly overall. You do not want one side to be dry while the other not as this may also cause movement and cracking.

Visit our website for information about recommended care products!
